Workshops to tell Chennai tales from Feb 2 to 11

TIMES NEWS NETWORK

Chennai: The 6th annual storytelling festival will be held in Chennai between February 2 and 11 in various locations across the city, including Loyola and Stella Maris colleges.

Organised by the World Storytelling Institute, the festival will feature performers based out of Chennai, Bengaluru, Hyderabad, Pune, Mumbai, Kolkata, Ahmedabad and Delhi, besides New York city in the USA and Sweden. The inaugural ceremony on February 2 for which prior registration is required, will be held at the Andhra Mahila Sabha on Luz Church Road and will feature a performance by Cathryn Fairlee of California.

Storytelling workshops for adults and college students are also part of the festival. A storytelling session in Tamil language will be held on February 4 at Tarapore Avenue on Harrington Road. Loyola College will play host to a seminar session on storytelling on February 8. Interested people can get further details on the festival by visiting <http://storytellinginstitute.org/2018a.html>

For registration, the organisers could be reached at 98403 94282.
