DIPLOMA IN COMMUNITY MENTAL HEALTH CARE

The Banyan Academy of Leadership in Mental Health (BALM) a mental health and social science research and teaching institution in collaboration with Rajiv Gandhi National Institute for Youth and Development (RGNIYD) offers a Six months Diploma Course for Grassroots level Mental Health workers at SMCDRIVE. The broad aim of the diploma programme is to create a committed work force of mental health workers at the ground level, to promote well being in the community, and facilitate early diagnosis of mental distress and access to mental health care. The programme focuses on enrolling members from the disadvantaged community, so as to empower them with knowledge and skills in mental health care, thereby increasing their employability and promoting sustainable livelihood. Since The Banyan and BALM are already conducting an outreach program and a clinic at SMCDRIVE- Shanthi Bhavan, it was proposed that this programme may be offered to health care workers from the same space. Grass root level Health workers receive Diploma in Community Mental Health Care through this course.
