

FICCI FLO, Stella Maris College seminar on digital safety

Chennai: FICCI FLO Chennai, in collaboration with Department of Commerce - Shift 1 at Stella Maris College, organised a landmark regional seminar on "Digital Safety & Cybercrime." The event coincided with the 40th year of the college's Department of Commerce.

The seminar, deeply relevant to the digital age, attracted students from 12 prominent colleges. The seminar focused on pressing issues highly pertinent to the younger generation, particularly those pursuing careers in commerce, law and IT. The opportunity to gain insights from esteemed experts and engage in meaningful discussions on real-world challenges drew a diverse and eager audience.

Expert sessions focused on "Harnessing AI Responsibly – Ethical Practices & Benefits & "Digital Safety in the Age of Cyber Crime." with an engaging panel discussion featuring Ms. Subathra Mysamy, Ms. Vimalaasree Anandan, and Ms. Arulselvi G. The discussion delved into the legal aspects of cybercrime, the role of educational institutions in promoting cybersecurity awareness and the transformative potential of AI in the commerce sector

Ms. Divya Abhishek, Chairperson of FICCI FLO Chennai Chapter, emphasised the importance of the seminar theme in today's digital landscape. Mr. Kumar Jayant, IAS, Additional Chief Secretary, IT & Digital Services, TN Government, highlighted current trends and the importance of digital safety.

The seminar also saw participation from Sister Principal Stella Maris, Sister Secretary Judith Anitha Gonsalves, Mrs. Victoria Henry, Head of the Commerce Department, and Dr. S. Shanthi, Associate Controller of Examinations.
